

November 15, 2002

To Whom It May Concern:

I believe that the FCC should not implement any proposal that would lessen Indiana's Telephone Privacy Law.

Since the law has gone into effect, we have received very few unsolicited phone calls. It was not uncommon to receive 4 or 5 telemarketing calls in the evening. That is one of the reasons we purchased an answering machine. We were not answering our phone at all....unless we knew who the caller was.

I feel that as a phone customer and a taxpayer, if I want "new windows" or "a free vacation", I will contact someone about them.

Sincerely,

Robert D. Wiwi
Janice A. Wiwi